HOSE THAT READ THE HOOPER REPORT of extraordinary American prosperity constantly increasing will ask,
"How long can it last?"

It can last indefinitely, unless our supply of common sense gives out.

The President Hoover report declares that this country has not more than "scratched the surface of its gigantic possibilities."

Write that on your cuff, and don't sell things short in this country.

American money and American credit are SUPPOSED to be upheld by a certain amount of gold.

Nobody knows anything about money, or its history. Bankers, perhaps, less than anybody else.
They were much opposed to the Federal Reserve banking system when it was proposed.

Later they decided that it was a blessing.

Now they adore it, since it assists them in the profitable practice of 15 and 20 per cent usury.

In 1934 we had four and a half billions in gold, supporting a bank credit of forty-five billions —ten to one.

In 1935, the gold supply amounted to 9 per cent of our bank credit; in 1937 it fell to 4 per cent, and last year to less than 7 per cent. Now the percentage is lower than it ever was.

The fact, of course, is that gold is merely an idea—like an African witch doctor's fetish.
The real thing back of credit is the wealth of the United States in land, resources, factories, people—NOT gold.

In connection with recognition of the Pope's temporal soverignty in Italy, there has been discussion as to control of schools. The matter was settled, for the Vatican, yesterday, by the Pope's address to the pupils at Mondragone College, published in the Observatore Romano.

The Pope, according to the Associated Press, said that the education of the young is the responsibility of the church, not of the state, and the Pope does not intend to relinquish the church's "precious charge, held for centuries."

It is believed that his positive statement may cause difference of opinion in the ranks of the Fascists.

King George has returned to his favorite residence, Windsor Castle, with years of life promised by doctors.

Loyal subjects turned out to cheer their King.

Newspapers print his picture headed "Long to reign over us."

The idea that men do not want to be ruled is a mistake. To be ruled is exactly what they DO want, and to be freed from responsibility of self-rule.

It is painful for a dog to walk on his hind legs. Painful for human beings to rule themselves and think for themselves.

Coming by way of the Azores, the big double Graf Zeppelin is expected to arrive at Lakehurst, N. J., at noon on Saturday after 7 1/2 hours of flying.

This will bring the world one step nearer to commercial transoceanic flying. This country is indebted to Germany for setting the pace.

"Everybody is in the market."
That is almost literally true.
The Stevens Institute of Technology, highest kind of high-school institution, sends $1,000,000 into the Street for investment in stocks instead of bonds, as usual.

It bought one stock, sold half for more than the whole thing cost, and is quite satisfied.

But the wise gentleman IN-VESTED—he didn't invest in the little five per cent 15 and 20 per cent interest on gambling money remember that.

Today Edsel Ford, representing his father, Henry Ford, will turn over the first new Ford to start the new "Ford factory in England."

Invasion of Great Britain by American industry interests
British and does not please all of them.

However, Americans will seize the European automobile market unless Europe can compete in quantity and cost.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., of General Motors, who bought the biggest automobile works in Germany, is said to be buying two big concerns in France and Italy.
The automobile business is an American business.

Too bad as much cannot be said, as yet, for the surprise bought.

Yesterday was pleasant for gentlemen that toll not, neither do they sell, sending their money to the Street on "call."

Price yesterday was 15 per cent three per cent more than charged by bankers.

6 INVESTIGATIONS ARE UNDER WAY; FACING 'WAR DEATHS'

Cleveland, Ohio, May 16.—The noxious, brownish gas which shattered the Cleveland Clinic Hospital and dropped patients, doctors and nurses in their tracks as they fought for escape, continued its insidious work today, driving the death toll to 120.

Between 30 and 40 more may die, doctors say. Many rescuers were among those to succumb.

The two terrific explosions and the fire which followed ignition of X-ray films in the basement yesterday and which took scores of lives did not do all the damage. The poisonous fumes continued to act on the blood of the victims throughout the night and resulted in hourly reports of additional deaths.

The great majority of the dead were residents of this city, a score being from cities outside Ohio and a dozen or more from other cities in the State.

The fire door leading from the X-ray room in the clinic where the first explosion occurred had been left open, the state

THE X-RAY FILMS TO SAVE LIVES OF HOSPITAL VICTIMS

INVESTIGATIONS ARE UNDER WAY AT CLINIC DISASTER

Fire warden investigating the tragedy announced today. In regard to this the warden said:

"If this door had been closed the disaster might have been averted."

Investigations by Governor Myers Y. Cooper, Coroner A. J. Pearce and City Manager William B. Hopkins was put under way early in an effort to solve the tragedy in the white brick, four-story city building. Three other separate inquiries also are under way.

Hospitals Still Crowded With Victims of Horror

Although the cause of the fire in the X-ray films remained a mystery, authorities advanced three theories. Some one, it was thought, might have been burning rubbish in the furnace, ten feet from the vault containing the highly inflammable films, and a spark might have been blown through the open door.

The second theory is that a steamfitter was working in the basement, which might have accounted for the door of the vault being open. Had the workman been using a torch, the films would easily have caught fire. It was said the steamfitter was carried out among the dead.

The most frequently advanced idea is that crossed wires on the X-ray apparatus provided the damaging spark.

The man who perhaps held the secret to the whole affair was in a critical condition and may take the solution to the grave with him.

Dr. Jack H. Swafford, X-ray room physician, was said to have leaped from a window of the X-ray room and was found lying on the automobile running board in a dazed condition. He was not permitted to see visitors today.

The time of the explosion in the moving van was taking his belongings from his residence in another part of the city and his family could not be located.

It is now estimated that more than 200 persons were in the building when the explosion took place. Several bodies were found scattered about the fumes reached there. Others died in frantic flight, their bodies strewn down the stairs and floors. Many died after reaching the open air, many others succumbed in hospitals or while being rushed to hospitals in ambulances.

Hospitals today were still crowded with victims, many being treated on city placed in hallways. Desperate efforts were being made to cut down the growing death toll. Families and acquaintances who preceded in service to help assist artificial respiration to victims not dead from burns, to transport them to hospitals.

Death Is Spread by Sudden Rush of Gas and Flames

"The blast was a case of pure accident," Coroner A. J. Pearce said today, pending an inquest he plans at an early date.

"An far as I have gone into the investigation I feel that it was a case of pure accident. Death was caused in most cases by poisonous gases inhaled by victims and in some cases from shock."

There are reports that a steam fitter with a blow torch was working near the room where the X-ray films were stored and other reports have reached me, which I intend to go into thoroughly."

City officials have warned all other hospitals using X-ray machines to take extra precautions against another similar disaster. Furthermore, they have urged that the system in use at each hospital for storing X-ray film be checked.

Much official interest in the investigation was turned to the street by the door to the storage room, which was found open.

The open door revealed flames and sent the spiraling column of mustard-colored gas through the foyer to the roof. The gas reached the foyer on the second floor through the staircase. There it rose through the open center of the building to the roof, penetrating to examining rooms in the clinic from the balcony which opened on the foyer below.

With the first explosion, firemen concluded, the gas swept upward and filled the building. "Pent in, with compression increasing as the heat intensified, the gas exploded a second time, this time from the basement to the foyer and upward, scattering and blasting material and enveloping the clinic."

The skylight was shattered and glass from the windows was hurled across the street. The terrific force of the gases was seen clearly. The route of the scorching flames from the basement to the roof could be followed up stairways and on the first floor on the handrails, the charred woodwork and the tell-tale signs of the hospital.

On the landing to the hospital in the rear, where most of the victims were taken, without the clinic.

The tunnel it guarded was wood lined and had the windows of the burning gas reached it. The only reason the tunnel was not many times greater.

On the morning after the disaster the building from collapse, firemen said—the skylight. When it gave way it permitted the deadly gases to expand skyward.

Diagnosis was given by the clinic experts today of the cause of death in the victims. The deaths were in the form of two explosions and clouds of poison gas from burning X-ray film in the basement. The gas, doctors explained, entered the

Doctor Tells How His Wife 'Died With Smile'

Chicago, May 16 (INS)—"She—she was horribly burned. The gas attacks the tissues—she was bleeding at the mouth and nose and eyes. She couldn't speak—but oh, God help her! She was conscious!"

"She was conscious for two hours. For two hours I worked over her, there on the hospital lawn. And then—then, at last—her bleeding lips twisted themselves into a smile. I felt her squeeze my hand, and—she died."

That was the story told today upon his return here with the body of his wife, Florence, by Dr. William G. Epstein, one of the best known surgeons in St. Bernard's hospital and a survivor of the Cleveland clinic disaster.

"My wife and I," he stated, "were on our vacation. We had left our two children, Mary Virginia, 8, and Billy, 6, at home with their nurse."

"We were on our way east and stopped off at Cleveland on the spur of the moment. I wanted to visit the clinic there and my wife decided to have her throat examined. She was not ill, but her throat had been troubling her and she thought that this was a good opportunity to have it looked over."

recovered. He left to go to his home, and on the way he fell to the sidewalk.

He is a close friend of Dr. George W. Crile, co-founder and head of the clinic. Hearing of his friend's condition, Dr. Crile left the disaster scene and personally performed a transfusion in the hope of saving his colleague's life.

But in spite of this and everything else that could be done, Dr. Phillips died.

At Mount Sinai Hospital doctors said they had similar cases. The first was that of Miss Ella Mosler, the clinic stenographer. She had leaped to safety from a window and had walked home. She seemed to be entirely out of danger.

Another case was that of Dr. John Phillips, one of the founders of the clinic. He walked away from the structure, after the explosion. Two tanks of oxygen were administered to him, and he seemed to be fully recovered.

been turned against pain and death. The clinic was owned principally by Dr. Crile, nationally known physician, who was too occupied with relief work to comment on the catastrophe.

Despite the heavy loss of life, firemen estimated the property damage at only $50,000.

Emergency equipment was set up on every hand. The firemen lifted and permitted restlines were thrown. Police cordoned off the area and held in check a crowd of several thousand onlookers.

Warner Predicts Movie Actor Strike

New York, May 16 (INS)—Midsummer may find the motion picture industry—America's fifth largest industry—paralyzed by a general strike, according to Warner.

This prediction was made today by Albert Warner, general manager of the Warner Bros. company, because of desire of the actors to have a better contract. The film producers to employ the actors in an agreement similar to that of the actors' union.

Stanley Phelan of New York is a sister of the doctor. He is a member of the board of the Guaranty Trust Company.

FEW WESS' STORY PAST

Cleveland, May 16 (AP)—Eve Wess, widow of the late Cleveland clinic doctor, said today that the Cleveland clinic today said the blast was followed immediately by billows of amber-colored smoke—the deadly fumes which settled in the pores of the building and swirled from the windows, enveloping even persons in the streets.

"Men and women, looking more like shadows through the smoke, were clinging to the window sills, begging for help."

"The ladders placed against the building did not reach the top. Some persons succeeded in reaching the ladders. Others jumped to safety from the windows, but many were killed by the falling ladders."

"Planes shot from the two lower wings and fell into the street, side of the building," Donahay said. "A thick dense yellow smoke poured from the building, so heavy was it that it obliterated the sky."

Wife Lost Her Life in Blast as She Awaited Husband

Cleveland, May 16 (AP)—Mrs. Charles E. Lockie, Cleveland, lost her life in the Cleveland clinic disaster because she wanted to be with her husband, who was waiting for her in the building.

Stahl, on the first floor, had gone through the preliminary to the operation while his wife waited in an ante-room on the second floor.

They failed to find each other in the panic which followed the blast, and she perished.

WHERE DEATH BLASTED SCORES FIGHTING FOR LIFE

Body after body was taken down the ladders as rescue workers penetrated deeper into the gas-filled interior of the clinic. Scores of residents aided firemen and police after the blast. (International Newsreel photo transmitted by A. T. & T.)

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
BOSTON, THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1929

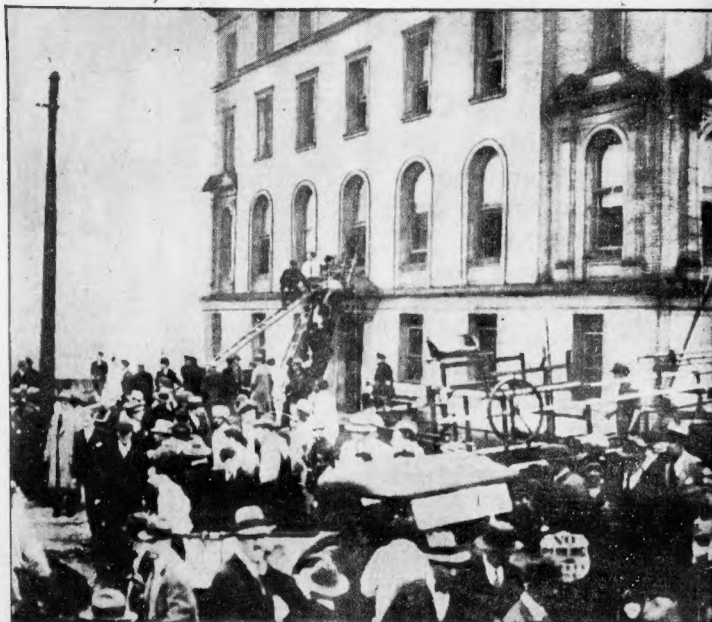

Dr. George W. Crile, nationally known physician, is the head of the Cleveland Clinic. He directed rescue work.

First aid was administered on the lawn of the hospital to many of the patients who were alive when carried from the building. In many cases, however, this treatment was in vain and the victims died even as doctors worked frantically to save them. (Associated Press telephoto.)

General view of Cleveland Clinic and Hospital after the explosion. Confusion reigned for a time as hundreds of residents of the district added themselves to the corps of firemen and police who responded for rescue work. Rescuers braved death themselves when they entered the gas-filled rooms to carry out the bodies.

HOUSE SEES THE 'HAR' EDS; TO TAKE RECESS

Washington, May 15 (AP)—House for a summer vacation. The session was raised today by program in negotiations to avert the threatened controversy between the Senate and House over the former's right to initiate export de-benture legislation in the farm bill. The outcome apparently rested with the House Republican steering committee, which was called on today to decide whether the bill should be received as passed by the Senate with the disputed de-benture section or sent back on the ground that only the House has the constitutional right to initiate such legislation.

Speaker Longworth and other leaders were inclined to favor the former course. The view of the majority of the House is that the probability of a long controversy if it were turned back. They were convinced, however, the Senate had invaded the right of the House to initiate revenue legislation, at least in the case of the de-benture bill which might be adopted permitting the Senate bill to be submitted to conference.

The Senate bill, meanwhile, was left on the speaker's table, while administration leaders in both chambers were confident the de-benture section, which President Hoover, opposed, would be eliminated by the conference committee, and a measure sent to the White House which would be less likely to encounter a veto.

Anticipating adoption of such a course, Speaker Longworth has disclosed plans for a recess of six weeks or two months after the House completes the tariff and farm relief measures. Senator William Borah, leader of the Senate, probably would recess for 30 days after receiving the tariff bill and referring it to the committee.

HARVARD GIVES 13 AWARDS TO BOYS

New England boys at Harvard figured prominently in the Bowdoin and other annual awards announced at Cambridge. Of the prizes, seven went to students who live in Greater Boston or New England.

Lyndon M. Bryant of East Northfield was awarded Bowdoin prize in English of $200 for his story entitled "Fate in Hardy's novel."

The second prize of $100 was given to Robert C. Davis of Cambridge for an essay entitled "Discordia Cordis," and another of $100 to Harold P. Poland of Salt Lake City, Utah, for an essay entitled "Theophilus."

John P. Maud of London, England, won Bowdoin prize in both Latin and Greek translations classic. The prize was $100.

Gerard P. Elze of Kansas City, Mo., was awarded the John O'Brien Barent prize of $100 for the best memorial submitted to the department of memorial translation of a lyric poem of Horace.

RAPE BIRDS ARE SEEN IN HUB

A score of members of the Brookline bird club, men and women, got up early today and were compensated at the Public Gardens by getting glimpses of rare birds resting on routes from South America and Mexico to Canada.

With binoculars and field glasses the bird lovers were able to pick out several black-throated blue warblers in the trees, an olive black thrasher, and a number of wood warblers of various family sub-divisions.

The club members went out today to watch for the rare birds because there was a south wind blowing yesterday, an indication that they would come from the warm breeze.

Every year a number of the birds use the public Gardens as a resting place on route to Canada for the summer.

Raising Fund for Legion Convention

Westfield, May 15—A drive to raise $4500 for the entertainment of the American Legion at its state convention here in August has been launched by Westfield Post, 124, which will be the host organization. Canvassers began a solicitation of the citizens and there was a good response. The legislature has given the city permission to appropriate not more than $8000. Harold Whittemore, post commander of the post, is chairman of the finance committee and in charge of the drive. The Chamber of Commerce is assisting in the campaign. It is hoped to raise $8000 for the entertainment of the delegates.

Death Inquiry

Judge P. Bartlett Conitt held an inquiry into the death of Michael Maloney, truck employe of the Boston & Maine Railroad who was killed on the Pittsburgh division recently. All witnesses were heard in the Westfield District Court, and the court will submit the finding to the district attorney.

MISS FRANCES DUNCAN WEED PICKS BRIDAL ATTENDANTS

Miss Mary D. Weed Will Be Maid of Honor at Sister's Marriage to Lawrence O. Pratt

WEDDING PLANS AND BRIDES SHOWERS are uppermost in the thoughts of one of the city's important young brides just now. She is Miss Frances Duncan Weed, who has chosen her attendants for the brilliant ceremony which will make her the bride of Lawrence O. Pratt on June 8. Gowned in ivory scale with billowing veil of priceless old family lace she will move afterward attended by her sister, Miss Mary D. Weed, as maid of honor. Her six bridesmaids will be Miss Martha Jarvis of Pittsburgh, Miss Belle Larson of Washington, D. C., Miss Alice Grace, Miss Katherine Wing and Miss Barbara Greenwood of Brookline and Miss Eleanor C. Dodge of Boston. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Weed of 131 Carlton st., Brookline.

MR. PRATT WILL HAVE HIS BROTHER.

JOSEPHINE KOCH and Albert S. Bigelow take place in the question on many tongues today, for Miss Koch will announce tonight beyond the fact that the ceremony is to take place on June 8. All the thrilling details of gathering a bridal party and trosses suited to her station are still secrets and will not be divulged until a large circle of friends "lets in Boston," is the answer she gives everyone now.

WHERE WILL THE WEDDING OF MISS KOCH TAKE PLACE?

At the Chestnut Hill home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Webster this week, for their daughter, Mrs. Thomas Ham, and her two small grandsons from Switzerland, are visiting them. The former Frances Webster lived above about six months, in 1925, on Col. Ham.

THE STORK, FLYING OVER THE BAPTIST HOSPITAL LATE

yesterday afternoon, left a future member of the Vincent Club in care of Mr. and Mrs. Graham T. Winslow of Dudley st., Brookline. Both the little lady and her mother, the former Miss Helen Winslow, daughter of Mr. Ernest Winslow of Chestnut Hill, are receiving callers today. And a new candidate for the University Club at some future date arrived at the Phillips House, Boston, on May 7, for Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harris (now Webster). Speaking of new arrivals reminds people here of the social calendar which includes summering at the "Lodge," the home of Mr. George Higginson, Jr., in the Berkshires. The new social belle's mother was Miss Lee Higginson.

NOTHING LIES CLOSER TO THE HEART OF SOCIETY'S than the annual New England Music Festival for developing talent in high and junior high school pupils. This year the patronesses for the concert to be given by this organization in Symphony Hall, Saturday afternoon included Misses Samuel Allen, Charles Bramwell, A. Others interested in its success are Mrs. Roger I. H. Huntington R. Hardwick, George Merrill, Benjamin Pitman, Frank Stewart, Giles Stone, J. G. Thorp and others.

Textile Leader at Newmarket Confab

Newmarket, N. H., May 15—First Vice-President Francis J. Gorman of the United Textile Workers of America conferred here with Organizers Horace A. Rivers of Manchester relative to the relief work in connection with the strike situation here.

Organizer Rivers received word from the American Federation of Labor of Wisconsin that the mill of the Newmarket Manufacturing Co. would be included in the mill before Congress urging that there be a Congressional inquiry into the textile industry situation.

HEAD ACHE?

A DOZEN different things may cause a headache, but there's just one thing you need ever to get relief. Bayer Aspirin is an absolute antidote for such pain. Keep it at the office. Have it handy in the home. Those subject to frequent or sudden headache should carry Bayer Aspirin in the pocket tin. Until you have used it for neuritis, neuralgia, or some other deep-seated pain, you've no idea how marvelously effective Bayer Aspirin is. It means quick, complete relief to millions of men and women every year. Doctors everywhere declare it does not depress the heart. Any drugstore.

SHIELDS' VICTOR IN DES MOINES COLLEGE 'WAR'

Mrs. Thomas Ham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Webster, is here from Geneva for a visit.

At a special meeting of the East Boston Improvement Association at the call of Richard C. Kirby, president, to hear Representative William H. Heers discuss the benefits which would come to East Boston as a result of the opening of the East Boston Tunnel Act, the representative bitterly denounced the "East Boston" plan for the tunneling reference which it made in its current issue.

WOMAN GRABS SUSPECT

Providence, R. I., May 15—Held by a woman who found him acting suspiciously in the hall of her home at 4 Prairie ave., Carmine DeLima, 24, of North Providence, was arrested. He is being questioned today concerning several house burglaries reported from that neighborhood.

Soon after being taken to the police station, DeLima was stripped of his clothes and removed to the Rhode Island Hospital. Then a guard was placed over him and today's inquiry will be held at his bedside.

Mrs. Martha Callow, occupant of the third floor apartment in the Prairie ave. house, told police she first saw the man and her screams brought Mrs. Ella Studley from the second floor apartment. Mrs. Studley met the man as he ran downstairs and struck with him until the arrival of police.

BOOKSELLERS ACT ON CLUBS

The American Booksellers' Association, concluding its convention in connection with the strike situation to take action on some of the most important matters before it, including the troublesome question of what their official attitude is to be toward their new rivals, the "chain book-of-the-month" clubs. Their attitude, if it assumes definite shape, is expected to take the form of resolutions expressing certain alleged methods of obtaining business followed by the book clubs. Another important item of the day will be the election of officers for the coming year.

PRINCE WALES AND GRAND PRINCE ROMANCE

London, May 15 (AP)—Rumors that Princess Ingrid of Sweden may be the bride of the Prince of Wales, were revived here today by the visit of the beautiful 17-year-old daughter of the Crown Prince of Sweden. Princess Ingrid is visiting her grandfather, the Duke of Connaught, she is one of the few eligible Protestant princesses in Europe.

From a box the Swedish princess today watched her grandfather review the Grenadier Guards and Horse Guards parade. The Prince of Wales sat beside the duke and frequently cast side glances at the fair young princess. Ingrid seemed to catch his eye nearly every time he looked and smiled amiably.

The prince is constantly telling friends he will not marry until he is 25. He is to observe his 35th birthday June 23.

Vermont Governor Luncheon Speaker

Burlington, Vt., May 15—Governor John E. Weeks addressed the annual meeting of the Vermont Association for the Blind, W. R. Bates, president of the association, presided at the luncheon at the Hotel Sherwood.

The large city bookstores group, meeting under the leadership of Richard R. Fuller of the Old Corner Book Store here, discussed some of the major problems of the book trade business, including the co-operation of the publishers in a movement to make a larger portion of the public "book-minded."

Speakers pointed out that only a very small part of the public is of the book-reading type, and that a great commercial reaction lies untapped through lack of any effort to convert them to the pleasure and practical value which lies in books.

PILGRIMS HERE SATURDAY

Word is expected today from the Council of Irish Presidents Wilson, which will determine the approximate hour on Saturday when the Boston diocesan Catholic pilgrims are to Rome, under leadership of Cardinal O'Connell, will land at Cromwell pier, South Boston. The Presidents Wilson is bringing 39 pilgrims, also 22 second cabin passengers and 111 third class for Rome.

Cardinal O'Connell and his party sailed from Boston on April 19 aboard the President Wilson for Rome.

SUOE TARIFFS BE LIEVED TO BE CERTAIN

Washington, May 16 (INS)—East and West joined hands today in presenting demands to the Republican members of the House ways and means committee for a tariff on boots, shoes, leather and hides. The old antagonism between the cattle raisers and the Eastern manufacturers apparently disappeared and Republican congressmen, who took the place of their constituents into the committee, were agreed that all must stand together.

FAVOR PROTECTION. Although the committee heard the members according to schedule, it was reliably reported the committee had already decided that boots, shoes, leather and hides must be given the protection they were denied in the bill.

Representatives Andrews (R) of Massachusetts, Clarke (R) of New York, Mrs. Rogers (R) of Massachusetts and others presented the demands of the boot, shoe and leather industry, while Representative Sloan (R) of Nebraska, Cooper (R) of Ohio, and Stafford (R) of Wisconsin, were among those speaking on hides and leather in recent session of the committee.

RATE TO BE FIXED. Rep. Andrews declared he did not suggest a specific rate on boots, shoes and leather, stating the committee must work this out. He urged a compensatory duty if hides were made dutiable, and a straight protective rate for shoes.

The western members modified their demands for a hide tariff. Sloan asked for 5 cents on green and 7 cents on dried hides as compared with a 6 and 15 cent rate previously asked. Some Texas Democrats were reported willing to take a 3 and 4 cent rate on hides.

Nation-Wide Textile Industry Probe Planned in the Senate

Washington, May 16 (INS)—The possibility of a Senate inquiry into the textile industry all over the country looked brighter today when Senator Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, told the Senate he had no objection to including the New England textile industry in the investigation.

Senator Simmons (D.) of North Carolina, who opened an inquiry into strike conditions in North Carolina, however, said he would not object if the inquiry included the textile industry generally.

Mrs. Tunney Able to Walk Few Steps

Ricini, Italy, May 16 (INS)—Mrs. Gene (Polly Lauder) Tunney, who is recovering from an operation for intestinal tumor, left her bed today and walked a few steps with the assistance of her husband.

Mrs. Tunney sat up for a few hours in a lounge chair for the first time since her operation. Danger of a relapse is now believed to be past, although another fortnight of absolute rest is imperative.

Officers Elected by B. C. Debaters

The Fulton Debating Society of Boston College has elected the following officers for the coming semester: Harold P. Sullivan, '30, president; Leo P. Morison, '30, vice president; Nicholas Maffeo, '30, treasurer; Thomas Perkins, '30, censor; and William Keen, '30, secretary.

The society will close the season with a banquet at the University Club tonight. Henry Butler '29 is in charge.

SICK WOMAN IN HOUSE DECIDES COURT FAILS TO RECEIVE TO GET CASH FARM BILL

Although ardently ill, Miss Elsie McPherson of Falloway west, Medford, risked her life today to go to municipal court, expecting at last to get back $1233 allegedly entrusted to a Boston real estate dealer last June.

Instead she met with disappointment. For James A. Marshall of Devonshire st. failed to appear to make restitution, as Judge Corry had ordered.

"Go out and get that man," was the court's instructions to Special Officer Robert Lynch of Milk st. when the reason came to an end and Marshall was still absent.

Miss McPherson was injured in an auto accident and received a check for $1233 from the insurance company. As she was a patient at the tuberculosis hospital when the check reached her she endorsed it to the girl's sister, and promised to get the cash but never did so.

Washington, May 16 (AP)—House Republican leaders decided today to receive the Senate debt-rebate export farm relief bill, so it might be sent to conference, but said in approving such procedure, they felt Senate inclusion of the debt-rebate proposition constituted an invasion upon the constitutional prerogative of the House to initiate revenue raising legislation.

This course of action was decided upon at a meeting of the Republican steering committee. Previously a number of House Republicans had favored refusal by the House to accept the bill with the debt-rebate plan included. Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the majority leader, however, said the procedure had been approved in order to expedite action on farm legislation.

It is expected the farm bill now formally will be sent to conference with the Senate either today or tomorrow.

offer of $200,000 in cash to buy the Post.

Appearing in connection with the commission's inquiry into financial interests in newspapers by public power utilities, Grover declared his managing editor, C. D. Carberry, is making a report on the bid, said the offer was "almost the limit."

The publisher added he was the sole proprietor of the Post.

The offer, Grover continued, was made by Charles O'Malley at a conference February 17, 1928, with Carberry, who made a report on the proposal to him. O'Malley is scheduled to appear before the commission tomorrow.

The Post publisher declined to read parts of Carberry's report, declaring it was a reflection on his contemporaries.

CONFERRED WITH COX

Grover told of two conferences, in October and December, 1928, between himself and C. E. Wingo, Sunday editor of the Post, with Channing Cox, former governor of Massachusetts, concerning negotiations for the sale of the Post and other Boston newspapers.

The October 13 conference, which was between Wingo and Cox, Grover said, was about reports that the Boston Herald and the Boston Traveler were to be sold and that Cox was to have charge of both papers. Later, Grover said, he sent Wingo to see Cox again to inform him that if the report that the Traveler was to be sold was true, the Post would be interested in making an offer.

In this conference, held in December, Cox asked Wingo about reports that some people were trying to buy the Post, the Wingo testified.

Cox told Wingo at this time, Grover added, that "rather than have the Post sold to a man who is interested in buying the paper."

COX CAREFUL WORK

Commented told the commission the New England Power Association last spring paid Thomas Carberry, political writer for the Boston Herald, $100 for his work in taking charge of arrangements for a party of newspapermen to visit England Power Association carried to Hellows Falls, Vt., on the occasion of the opening of a new power plant by the organization at that location.

Subsequent to the trip into New England, Commented said, Carberry was employed off and on for three months and received a total of $100 for his work. In June, 1928, Commented said, he offered Carberry a permanent job in the office of the new plant, but that the latter refused it. He was then offered the new plant at Hellows Falls, the witness explained. "I thought we ought to advertise it and suggested to him a crowd of newspaper men and photographers to come to the new plant. It was the last word in modern construction. I asked Mr. Carberry to arrange it. He was, I think, a special writer for the Herald."

"Do you know if he represented the Herald at the State House?" Healy asked.

"I don't know. I do know that on Sunday he was a reporter of the State House activities. I asked him to take charge of the party because he knew whom to invite."

POP FIRES SHOT AND RESIGNS

After a shot was notoriously discharged from his service revolver today, and he had been rushed to city hospital and found to be suffering from "acute indigestion," Patrolman Charles Blasse added more mystery to the case by resigning from the police department and keeping silent.

The shot was heard by residents of Tappan st., Roxbury, coming from the vicinity of a house where Blasse's wife's parents are said to live and where, according to the police, he was sitting before finishing a cup of duty at 1 o'clock this morning.

A squad of officers from Dudley at division went to the house and found the patrolman in a semi-conscious condition on the rear porch. Believing he had been badly wounded by the shot, which they found had been fired from a .38 Smith & Wesson gun, they hurried with him to the hospital, only to get a diagnosis of acute indigestion from the doctors.

Blasse later said he did not know how the shot was fired. He said a short time afterward he handed in his formal resignation.

ROOF NO SHELTER IN STORM

THE RAIN THAT COMES IN THROUGH ROOF GOES DOWN THREE FLOORS

DOES THIS TO WALLS AND CEILINGS

LEAKY WALLS IN CHARLESTOWN HIGH

It takes a heavy rainstorm to do damage to most buildings—but not the Spencer Memorial Annex of Charlestown high school.

Even a moderate rain works into this structure, damaging ceilings and walls, dripping down on students and causing a condition so unhealthy that complaints are being made by pupils, teachers and parents.

There are 375 pupils housed in the building, a three-story brick structure with entrances in both Chestnut and Cedar sts., near Bunker Hill Monument. The condition of the school is cited by complainants as an additional reason for proposed legislation for a change in the Boston schoolhouse commission.

They were engaged in moving a wooden derrick which was used to hoist granite blocks. They grasped a steel guy wire at the top of the derrick, to which the guy wire extended.

They were able to scream for help, but could not get up and were almost pulled down close to the ground around them quivered from the force of electricity passing into it, according to other workmen.

led by Michael McNally, workmen there a rope around the two men and pulled them clear of the wires and Patrolman Michael Murphy of the Milton police notified the electric company, which shut the power off after three minutes. The men were pronounced dead by Dr. Draper of Washington St., Dorchester, the first to reach the scene.

An emergency crew of five men of the telephone company worked the prompt method of resuscitation when they found they had been pronounced dead.

No More Oily Skin

Creamed Magnesia quickly corrects oily skin, refines complexion, changes yellow, off-color skin to true-color complexion, heals eruptions and dissolves blackheads.

The newest discovery in beauty culture is that creamed magnesia is much better for oily skin than any soap or cleaning cream. It beautifies the skin instantly in the same way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach. This is because skin impurities are acid. Doctors have said inside the body with milk of magnesia. And now, dermatologists are getting amazing results in banishing pimples, blackheads, and other skin troubles with creamed magnesia. All you do is moisten your skin with it, massage and rinse with water. Its aseptic action washes your face.

It reduces enlarged pores to the finest, smoothest texture almost as if by magic. Being astringent, it dries away the tell-tale signs of age. You will marvel at the effect of your first five-minute facial massage. It rejuvenates the skin and makes you look lovely tonight, years younger. It's marvelous how magnesia dissolves blackheads, clears eruptions and corrects oily skin.

And because it is so mild, more use is needed of soap to bathe infants. It is certainly a blessing for a face wash for face, sensitive skin that soaps so easily irritate and cause rashes. Bring granules, it cannot fatigue the face or grow hair. It moves make-up and excess cosmetics deep out.

No More Ugly Nose Pores

CAUTION: Modern skin specialists say never use soap on your face if your skin is dry. All soap contains caustic, which paralyzes the little oil glands of the skin, keeping them constantly open. That's why oily skin always gets greasy-looking after soap. Oily skins should be cleaned only with Facial Magnesia which corrects oily skin in the same way that milk of magnesia purifies the stomach.

THREE BOSTON GIRLS ARE MISSING

Three Boston schoolgirls, styling themselves the "Three Musketeers," are missing from their homes and believed on route to Florida in an automobile with three young men.

The girls, who did not sleep at their homes last night, left a note signed "The Three Musketeers" and in it blamed some acquaintance for "causing all the trouble."

The clues are: Mrs. Campbell, 14, daughter of Mrs. Campbell, widow of Newland st., South End; Evelyn Connolly, 15, daughter of Mrs. Connolly, widow of West Brookline st., South End; Dorothy Pierce, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Pierce, Lamerline st., Jamaica Plain.

Two nights ago the girls were taken riding by three young men, but the ride was for less than an hour. Parents of the girls reported to the police, who are inclined to believe the "spontaneous" party was planned on the first auto ride.

Today an incident noted was found in the hallway by Miss Jean Campbell, 16, sister of one of the girls. The note, possibly dropped by accident, was addressed to a friend and read:

"You have made all this trouble for me. You made me see your mother any more? You'll be very sorry for this. Don't forget it. How would you like Agnes to be like you think we are? You are not. And Agnes not to see you any more. Oh, you are the meanest person that ever could exist."

"If you have a grudge against us for what Agnes told you, don't blame everything on me."

"The 'Musketeers'."

They were said to have only five officers.

FINES PAINTING

Despite the fact that the party was still going on just before 9 p. m., according to reliable authority, city officials declared to newspapermen that the last man to be checked off by the policeman on duty at 7 p. m.

The doorman keeps a list of all those who enter or leave City Hall after hours and Mayor Nichols appears on the Tuesday night list, being checked out at 6:45.

City Councilor Frederic E. Dowling of Brighton discovered the doorman's list Wednesday morning and reported it to City Master Leary, who in charge of the council rooms after hours. He reported it to Supt. Knight.

STRAW HATS FAIL TO APPEAR AT BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE

Despite the fact that yesterday was official "Straw Hat Day" with warm weather continuing today, a noon canvass of Boston Stock Exchange members today failed to reveal the appearance of a single "straw."

When reporters went on the investigation today they were refused at first permission to take photographs of the damaged painting, but finally Mayor Nichols consented to give the order.

Early Tuesday evening, according to Supt. Knight, several city councilors were in conference in the green room with newspapermen, but this conference was over and the conference was checked out of the building.

While the painting city officials declared steadfastly that the act of vandalism must have occurred before 5 p. m. on Tuesday, it was learned just as definitely that the party occurred between 7 and 9 p. m.

IGNORANCE OF PARTY

During the party in the Green Room of the City Council chamber, one of the participants was heard to exclaim:

"I don't like that guy's face, and I never did."

There was another crash—and another friend and foe. When these last crashes had died away to the end of their echoes, a number of bottles lay in places on the carpet and the oil painting was punctured additionally at the left of the head, beside the right ear and it now would you like Agnes to be like you think we are? CLUB SWAMPS
FOR DRIVE FOR FUND

By NANCY BREWSTER

Subscribing $889 today, the women's club in convention here sent over the top the drive for $2000 for the Helen A. Whittier scholarship fund.

The money was raised with great enthusiasm, following a personal appeal by Mrs. Clara Morrison Pook, first vice-president of the general federation.

Announcement had been made that the fund stood about $2000, which included $400 given by the New England Women's Club. Today's cash and pledges passed the $2000 mark by a generous margin.

With the reading of annual reports and five-minute reflections of district directors a moving picture of resplendent activity and accomplishments was placed before the 2000 delegates and visitors from every corner of the Commonwealth.

Homemakers of the world, in their position in this intricate day and age and clubwomen are addressing strongly to the principle embodied in the welcoming address of Mrs. Axel A. Packard, president of the State Federation. She also presided.

"I welcome you as representatives of one of the most distinguished units of this largest organization of homemakers in the world," Mrs. Packard said. "You are gathered here in annual meeting for very good reasons."

"This year it has sometimes seemed that we were so occupied with the coming Biennial Council meeting that we had forgotten Massachusetts was to have an annual meeting. It is a good thing to meet here before our work as sisters state begins. We can check up on the year's work."

"May we go back to our clubs determined that our programs shall be valuable not only to ourselves but to our communities and shall shed the shadow of possibility yet ahead of organized women."

WOMANKIND LAUGHED

The women were first welcomed to Swampscott by Dr. Howard K. Laidlaw, of the board of education in a glowing tribute to the future of womankind.

Then came assembly singing led by that dynamic song leader, Mrs. Mabel F. Barrows, with Mrs. Amy Young Burns at the piano.

Mrs. Burns' chorus of 800 voices last night was a thing of rare beauty.

Reports of Mrs. Edwin L. Friden, clerk; Mrs. Allen V. Mosher, assistant clerk; Mrs. Boyd P. Bock, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Frederick S. Davis, treasurer, followed.

Eight clubs have been added to active membership, Mrs. Bowditch reported. They are the East Free Women's Club of Roxbury, New England Hotel Women's Club of Boston, Hillside Mothers' Club of Medford, Junior Mothers' Club, Leavitt, East Springfield Women's Club, Massachusetts Daughters of Boston, and the Boston branch, Pen Women's League.

DEVELOPS POLITICS

"The practice of accepting recommendations from politicians and party leaders has not only discredited the merit system, but has also led to the appointment of incompetents," Mrs. M. Danforth, chairman of this department, said.

"Our big job is to wipe out race prejudice and we must start with our children," she said. "Our work is still called Americanization but it is a word which is often misused, abused and misunderstood."

"We must realize that adjustment to a new country must be all on the part of our transplanted neighbors. To help our American-born neighbors to the presence of the newer and older groups in our country, we must be able to become intelligent and well-thought-out citizens, rather than easily swayed by oratory or distortion of facts, is one of the most important tasks in the building of a unified and co-operative nation."

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

International relations problems are no more bignow than washing machines, Mrs. Charles E. French of Lowell, chairman of the apartment stated in her report.

Massachusetts women are not informing themselves with the idea of becoming an advisory department of the government but with a view to establishing an intelligent, firm and powerful and tremendous as it is the United States is especially the and of the individual."

Mrs. William G. Foster of the third district reported 18 clubs with about 2075 members.

Welfare work and helping underprivileged children is reported from nearly every club. Mrs. Philip H. Tivoli of the eighth district announced.

The Tenth District director, Mrs. Lewis R. Hovey, told an appreciative gathering that one of her clubs, the Middlesex Women's Club of Lowell, had increased its membership from 850 to 1000, although he formerly figures had previously been placed as the membership limit.

A nine page report of Mrs. P. M. Lynch of the Fourteenth District was barely skimmed to detail the work of her meritorious western Massachusetts clubwomen.

And from Mrs. George H. Sawyer of the Eleventh District came an illuminating resume of the work of her band of sturdy workers, too.

TWO REAPPOINTED

Governor Allen has reappointed Francis J. Riquie of the public administrator for Norfolk County, and Cornelius A. Sullivan as associate medical examiner for the fourth Norfolk district.

CHARGES WHITE HOUSE

Dr. John E. Kehoe, South Boston dentist, whose arrest April 8, brought a severe castigation of brutal police methods from Judge Dowd in municipal court, and who appeared a subsequent fine of $50 for assault and battery on Miss Anna Crovie of Levee at, today was found not guilty by a jury in superior criminal court.

In his arraignment in the lower court Kehoe told of being dragged and beaten by Patrolmen Clark D. Adair and Samuel J. Willis of Station 11 after he had been alleged to have accosted the girl, Kehoe charged, also, that his head was split open by a blunt instrument and when he asked for a doctor at the police station he was informed he could not have one.

"Where would he have gone?" asked Judge Dowd.

"To a hospital," replied Willis.

"To a hospital," replied Willis, "and operating under the influence charges were thrown in by the police for good measure," said Judge Dowd. "I cannot doubt the statement of the woman, plaintiff, but I find the defendant not guilty of the other charges." The fine of $50 was then imposed and Dr. Kehoe entered appeal.

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverish, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make its stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes it is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation.

RESTERS TO MISS TALIFERRO HAVE JUBILEE SUES AGAIN

Bridgeport, Ct., May 16 (INS)—Mabel Taliferro, the actress, will make another attempt to divorce her husband, Capt. J. P. (Pat) O'Brien, Hollywood director, in court here tomorrow.

The former stage and screen star last autumn sought a divorce, charging cruelty, desertion and non-support, but her charges were not upheld. She is expected to set forth the same complaint in the new action.

O'Brien is her third husband.

AT LAST... a blended two-base motor oil

SOME motor oils are made from paraffine base oil, others from naphthene. Each has good qualities not shared by the other.

The perfect oil for the modern motor is an exact blend of oil made from the best paraffine and the best naphthene bases. This ultimate oil we have produced in grades suitable for any motor in any climate.

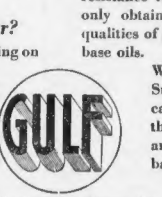

Does your motor?

If you have that regard bordering on affection for your motor, drive to the nearest Gulf Dealer and try this Gulf Supreme Motor Oil. It lubricates perfectly, resists high temperatures, minimizes knocking, seals piston rings and does the utmost that oil can do to give you a smooth-running, quiet motor.

Modern motors demand it

The high compression, the speed and power of the modern motor demand a two-base oil with the maximum stamina, the sealing qualities, the resistance to heat and wear that is only obtainable by combining the qualities of paraffine and naphthene base oils.

We urge you to test Gulf Supreme Motor Oil in your car and judge for yourself the improved performance and economy of this two-base oil.

Thrilling Six-Day Novel by a Noted Author

Harvey Reynolds, bank executive, confided in his daughter, Nadia, that they are bankrupt. Steve Kirk, son of the bank president, intimates that Reynolds is guilty of embezzlement. Unable to satisfactorily explain a $250,000 shortage, Reynolds is sentenced to serve a long term in prison. Nadia's faith in her father's innocence never wavers. She opens the China Room Tea Room. Gladia Tomassini, her waitress, dresses in Chinese costume. With Hanson, who has amnesia, a fortune, is a first prize. His promise to consult Jim Lafferty, political boss, regarding a pardon for Reynolds. Nadia finds herself reacting strangely to Hanson's suggestion. Gladia warns her employer to beware of "that man" and declares who hates him. Hanson is expected to return to the tea room when Steve Kirk arrives. Here tries to be a friend, she repulses him. Her father dies in prison. Hanson discovers that Kirk has unwittingly lent money to a big bootlegger. He offers to ruin him if Nadia will marry him. Steve fights with Hanson over a statement against his father. A friend, Allen Castlebury, makes love to Nadia, and Gladia's brother sets out to wreck vengeance against Hanson for betraying his sister.

CHAPTER 4
ALAN CASTLEBURY, despite the cool poison that marked his whole attitude, winced at Nadia's frankness. "I have no appeal for you—not a bit!" he asked, a faint hurt in his voice. "You have some—yes." "How much?" "A great deal, I imagine—enough to make me forget for the last 30 minutes that—that—" "What?" "That there are terrible things in the air. Web Hanson and Steve Kirk bailing and fighting. She was thinking, too, of the slender youth Caesar, burning the consuming vengeance against Hanson. He gripped her hand. "I haven't given up altogether. I won't nag you about it. We'll drop that phase of it." An hour later he went home. Then, as Nadia was preparing to go to bed, someone banged on the front door. Nadia, startled, opened her heart thumping with uneasiness. Web Hanson, his face slightly puffed and discolored, stood outside. "I'm back," he announced in a thickened voice. "Where is Kirk?" "You know he's not here!" "His voice was bitter. "He's perfectly sober," he protested. He moved toward the small telephone stand. Nadia went to her own room and looked herself inside. Presently, she heard him leave, heard his motor start as he drove away. Later, the telephone rang. "Miss Reynolds?" A man's voice was frosty. "May I speak to Mr. Hanson, please?" "Mr. Hanson," she returned, equally cold, "is not here." "He telephoned me from your place a little while ago. You're sure he's not there?" (Continued on Page 11, Column 1.)

Rev. Edward S. Swift Gives Song Recital
Rev. Edward S. Swift, S. J., formerly of Boston College, gave a song recital at the Teachers' College, Huntington Ave. The program included motion pictures of scenes at Weston during ordination days last June, views of the Novitiate at Shadowbrook, Boston College events of the past year and also the dedication of the new library together with Commencement exercises. James Ecker, concert pianist, assisted at the recital. Proceeds will be for the Shadowbrook Novitiate and Weston College.

NEW OFFICERS REMEDY RUTLAND CONDITIONS

'Whoopee' Just a Saying, Declares Mrs. Cowan

NEW HEADS PLEASE AT HOSPITAL

May Bride

Officials of the state department, American Legation, stated today that the unsatisfactory conditions complained of at the Rutland hospital had been remedied by the removal of two executive officers and that no further local action is contemplated. It was stated that the investigation, which led to the transfer of the business manager and chief dentist, following complaints that rutler food was being served to patients, was made by Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, who is chairman of the legion hospitalization committee, at the request of Gen. Frank T. Hines, chief of the Veterans' Bureau. The investigation of the Rutland institution originated in Washington and agents were sent to determine who was responsible for the alleged conditions existing. Howard E. Longfellow, medical manager at the Rutland Hospital for four years was today transferred to the Veterans' Hospital at Summit, Tupper Lake, N. Y. Miss Marion Penman, chief dietitian of the institution, was transferred to the Perry Point, Md. Veterans' Hospital, retaining her technical rank. Dr. Henry Ladd Stichey, medical officer in charge of the hospital, whose administration was the subject of an investigation last May, has been "called on the carpet" and ordered to take immediate steps in expediency conditions. Robinson E. Adkins, former business manager at Rutland, will succeed Longfellow at Rutland, and the position of chief dietitian will be filled by Miss Matilda Zeuner of the Perry Point institution. Complaints that rotten eggs were being served the patients brought about the present investigation. Eggs are a vitally important part of the tubercular patient's diet and more than 41,000 eggs are consumed each month at Rutland. Only those eggs which are bought from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and this means that only one egg of the eggs used in the hospital pass through the hands of inspectors M. A. Zakin. Eggs obtained from other sources are supposed to be inspected by the business manager and the chief dietitian.

Asks Yarmouth Will Be Upheld

New Bedford, May 16.—One of the most unusual will cases ever heard in Barnstable was reopened here, when the heirs of the late Mrs. Carline Lundberg of Yarmouth, asked that he will be again upheld.

Mrs. Lundberg died in 1929 and now it appears that a woman in Sweden claims to be the deceased's sister and asks for the entire $1000 estate which has been distributed among nephews and nieces of Mrs. Lundberg.

BOY MEETS 'ACCIDENT'

Alphonse Barron, 14, whose body with a bullet hole squarely between the eyes, was found in a bedroom chair in his Norwood home, was shot accidentally, the father declared as his brief today. Although at first the father, Stephen Barron, of 30 Weld ave., Norwood, said he had seen a gun when he first entered the boy's bedroom, he told police that when he became calmer he recalled picking up a .45-caliber revolver off the floor. He could not recall whether he had laid it on the bed or bureau, but said he believed it possible that in his excitement he tossed it back for eight years—a top bureau drawer. Police accept the father's version tentatively but are awaiting the medical examiner's report. The gun, Barron said, was one he took from a lodge in his home eight years ago after the lodge had suddenly become denigrated and had fired several shots through a window. On putting the revolver away, Barron broke the spring for reasons of safety, he said, and he believed the boy had been playing with the weapon periodically and finally had restored the spring. However, the father declared himself as almost certain that there was no shot in the gun when he placed it in the bureau years back. Only one shot, he exploded, was found in the revolver. An autopsy was performed on the body today by Medical Examiner Arthur S. Hartwell. The boy was 14 years old Sunday.

The Curious Quizzer

THE QUESTION

Do you think automatic signals of railroad crossings will make the same protection to voters and women as claimed by the Boston & Maine railroad?

ALBERT A. CRICKSHANK, Duxbury.—I don't approve of automatic signals to direct traffic at railroad crossings. Suppose a stranger is operating an automobile through country lanes. He does not know he is anywhere near a railroad track, much less a crossing. He will see the familiar signals in charge of a crossing. The proposed change to a light signal is a poor substitute for the color system so familiar to everybody.

MRS. ROSAMOND DAVIS, High Lee.—Lights are all right for street crossings, but if automatic signals are used at railroad crossings, they will be a rush through streets. The lights will be the same as the railroad crossing, but the lights will be a rush through streets. The lights will be the same as the railroad crossing, but the lights will be a rush through streets.

RAPS SALE OF MUSTER FIELD

Proposed sale of part of the National Guard muster field at Framingham, which the State owns, to the town of Framingham for $25,000, possibly to be used as a airport, was both attacked and defended today at a hearing before the joint ways and means committee.

It was charged by Senator Crockett, Milford, a vote was cast, that the measure was a move to obtain the land for industrial purposes. Representative Porter, Framingham, defending the measure, explained there was a movement in developing the field as an airport to attract airplane manufacturers. Adj. Gen. Louis P. Stevens and Charles P. Howard, chairman of the commission on aviation and finance, went on record in favor of the bill.

Real estate agent George W. Stevens, 1130 Washington street, Boston, if he ever lived in our town, had no part in the proposed sale of the land.

Sonnenberg Risks Fortune in DeVito Bout Tonight

$500,000 HANGS IN BALANCE

Champion Takes Chance on Future Purse; Pleats Tackles Three Opponents

By JACK CONWAY
GUS SONNENBERG will take a $500,000 gamble when he tackles Joe DeVito in a finish wrestling match, best two falls out of three, at the New Boston Arena tonight, under the direction of Paul Bowser.

It is estimated that Sonnenberg will earn $500,000 in purses during the next two years if he is successful in retaining his mat title. Therefore, he is risking that much money every time he defends his laurels.

Dynamite has just returned from a Western tour which netted him $100,000. Everywhere he went he was greeted by huge crowds which applied flying tackle.

DeVito is one of the best opponents Sonny has ever been called upon to meet in a Boston ring. The Italian heavyweight has beaten Stanley Shysko, Farmer George McGold and Stanley Mustafa and now feels he will lose Sonnenberg and thus become a challenger.

DeVito is a much better grappler than either Renato Gardini or George Calza, two of the best Italian wrestlers of recent years. DeVito is a big, powerful fellow and also has a knowledge of the fine points of the game.

DeVito has prepared a defense against Sonnenberg's flying tackle. He believes Sonny is in for the surprise of his life tonight.

IT isn't any secret that Sonny's backers are much concerned over his physical condition. Jimmy Brown has not allowed the champion inside of a gym since he returned home on Monday. He fears the title holder may go stale from the effect of his strenuous campaigning in all parts of the country.

Bowser is of the opinion that the layoff has done Sonny much good and that he will be his old self when he steps into action at the Arena.

Martin Piestina, Tarzan of the mat, will tackle three opponents tonight in the semifinals. He made the best he could lick Sonny, DeVito and any other two wrestlers on the card.

This caused, Paul Bowser to match him with Andy Brown, Ed Skorsky and Freddy Meyers. Bowser believes this trio will call his bluff and get Piestina off Sonnenberg's heels.

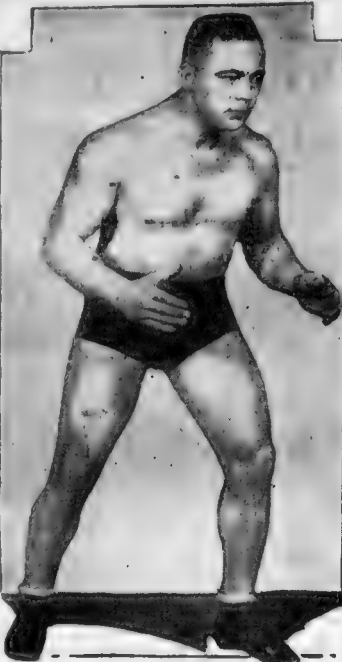

Mike Bauman is in Boston with Piestina and evidently wants to annoy Sonny. Bauman is a brother of Billy Sandow, manager of Brander Lewis, and the family pride was hard hit when Dynamite pinned the Stranger in their title battle.

IN the preliminary, Bob (Nipper) McCoy, former Holy Cross athlete, will tackle Dan Koloff, Balkan champion. Jack Gannon of South Boston will draw Axel Anderson of Sweden as an opponent.

B. C. TO BATTLE MANHATTAN
Boston College hopes to chalk up its 31th consecutive victory in 12 states when it plays Manhattan at the Heights tomorrow afternoon. The Eagles are favored to win by a lopsided score.

Jim O'Connor, a smooth left-hander, will start in the box for B. C. The Green team from Gotham will have to work hard to get a half dozen safe snuffs off his bat.

Schoolboy Nines in Action Tomorrow

By DICK McSWEENEY

While the school baseball card is rather lean today, there is no dearth of fine contests scheduled for tomorrow.

At the parochial school outfits will meet rugged opponents in a fine list of diamond clashes.

Today Dean Academy faces Peen & fresh in Philadelphia and if the Penn variety line is any criterion of what to expect from the Red and Blue warriors, Dean is in for a tough afternoon.

The other scrap listed for this p. m. begins and ends in Waltham, where Brighton will attempt to dust off the Watch City din.

The fans will find it hard to pick out a red-hot fray from tomorrow's flock of horsehide boys. English high confidence because of its unblemished record in the City League and its excellent pitchers, Tamula and McLean will try to seal Trade out of the picture at Roulendale.

Other good contests which the schedule-makers have arranged are: Whitthrop at Chelsea; Country Park at Hingham; and Northmont Hill at Noble and Greenwich, Swampscott at Milton, Jamaica Plain at Boston Latin, Quincy at Thayer Academy, Saugus at Danvers, Bridgewater Normal at Keene Normal; Concord at Methuen; Reading at Lexington; St. Thomas at Cathedral; Our Lady at St. Mary's; Mission at St. Clement's; and St. John at Immaculate Conception high.

Physical Director Nat Young at the Hub school department, has arranged a fine track program for intermediate and elementary school athletes who will compete in their respective divisions on June 4 and June 8.

The events annual relay carnival will be sandwiched in with the intermediate finals on June 4. Trials and semifinals in the relay and intermediate division will take place on June 1.

EASTERN HORSE CLUB MEETING JUNE 15-17

By GEORGE W. GRIMM

Augustus F. Goodwin at an informal dinner, headed the sports writers at the Union Club outlined plans for the Eastern Horse Club race meet at The Country Club on June 15 and 17.

Two flat races and four steeplechases are scheduled for June 15, while on the holiday, June 17, three steeplechase events, two on the flat and a steeplechase for gentlemen riders will be held.

The Country Club has one of the finest steeplechase courses in the country with the jumps and water leaps so arranged that the horses and riders are forced to show their best.

From 1880 until 1918 race meetings were held annually at The RABBIT has had 18 knockouts; the first 30 are the easiest—A. The Giants were not favorites for the pennant; and now look at 'em—just another triumph for the experts—Dr. McGarity, who nursed a few Braves in Fla., admits the team needs a hospital now—Binks will fight here again; one should crack something about a baker needing the dough—C. Bromie says the form students should watch the lady golfer—and isn't there a Jones law in golf?—Blappy claims that you can buy baseball pool tickets in any of the dives; fair enough—you have to get more than a run for your money—Braves planted Bush, which was proper spring procedure—only bachelors should gamble, chirps a semi-reformer—only bachelors don't; that's why they are bachelors—the team that tries when things go wrong will bring the fans out right along—and this, friends of radioland, is all for the day.

Country Club, in 1928 the club revived the racing with a two-day meet, and in 1927 and last year another day was added at "Ragland," on the estate of John Macomber at Framingham. The meeting is open to the public, with prices ranging from $2 to $5.

Watertown Beaten

Wichester light defeated Watertown high, 4 to 2, in a fast Myrtle Valley League game at Manchester Field, Winchester. It was the first defeat for the League leaders this season.

SHIRES STRIKES BLACKBURN; QUILTS CLUB

Chicago, May 16 (INS)—Charles Arthur Shires, bad boy of the White Sox, was under indefinite suspension today for punching his manager, Russell Blackburn.

Shires appeared on the field in a kitchin mood, wearing a comical cap, and was admonished to disband the summer and disperse with burlesque.

Later in the clubhouse he knocked Blackburn down, cutting the manager's ear. Police and players stopped the battle.

Shires collected his belongings and said he thought he would start back to his home in Italy, Texas. Wesleyan vs. Trinity. Middletown, Ct., May 16—The Wesleyan University tennis team faces its old rival, Trinity, at the Hartford Golf Club Saturday.

JACK CONWAY

The report follows—
"Antagonism Mrs. Goss's artists and is based on the report that she twice refused to pass the word to McGuffee, who subsequently requested a third helping. Feeling became more strained when Mrs. McGuffee inadvertently referred to the 'ice-cream' as 'Kaw Kaffer.' Our recommendation is that further embarrassing and constant international publicity be avoided by providing ordinary nose bags, plainly marked 'Kaw Kaffer' and 'ice-cream' expressions and unkind remarks.

STOCKS RALLY FULLY AFTER EARLY BREAK

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

[illegible]

By W. S. COUSINS

New York, May 16.—After being down some 10 points from their levels on the current movement in foreign, industrial stocks rallied sharply today under the leadership of the copper, and recovered all of their losses.

The amusement stocks and the steel group were the main factors here in the afternoon, with the easing up of the money market and the drop in oil prices about 10 to 10 per cent.

The rains flooded the market with selling orders in the forenoon, and the price of the money market was depressed by as much as 10 per cent unless money rates are predicted.

The copper were hard hit, Anaconda's stock falling below $100, low at 121 and Green Canyon 49.

The United Corporation dropped to 78½ against last week's high at 79½.

The reduction in money rate to 10 per cent changed matters and the bears covered up their tracks quickly, at prices, first in the copper and then in the industrials moved up sharply.

Greenie Canadian Copper soon jumped to above 120, while Anaconda 4¼ to 123½.

Packard, General Electric, Radio and Westinghouse also advanced to take in a sharp rally and Warner Bros., which had been in the amusement stocks, jumped to above 132 on activity.

The oils were also well bought in the afternoon, the Fan American leading the rally.

Unannounced $4.50 a Share on Holmes

New Bedford, May 16.—Stockholders of Holmes Manufacturing Co. have received notice of a dividend check, one at the rate of $4.50 per share, payable last week on the preferred and none on which was unannounced at the time the company announced its total disbursement of $8. The corporation has stated that it had not paid any dividends on the preferred stock since 1927, and that the dividend having been declared May 15, 1927.

A certificate states that if during any year the company shall fail to pay a dividend of 8 per cent per annum, the common stock will have one vote and the common have no vote; and that if the action was taken only to return the stock to the holders for the control of the corporation.

Co. received in the small two dividend checks, one at the rate of $1.50 covering the dividend declared last week on the preferred and one which was announced at the rate of $4.50 per share, making a total dividend of $6.00 per share. The dividend on the common stock, until this quarter, had not paid any dividends on the preferred stock for two years, the last dividend having been declared May 15, 1927. A clause in the preferred stock provides that if the company for two consecutive years the company shall fail to pay the full preferred dividend of 6 per cent per annum the preferred stock will then have one vote and the common have no vote and the action hereinafter taken shall be binding on the common stockholders under the control of the corporation.

What Glee There Would Be in Europe, Envious Europe, If Senate Were to Force Uncle Sam Into World Court!

'SAM, YOU LOSE, FOURTEEN TO ONE!'

If the International Bankers ever succeed in inducing the United States Senate to vote this nation into the League of Nations' World Court, there is no telling what might not happen to Uncle Sam.

With fourteen votes against him, there is no limit to what might not happen. He wouldn't stand very much of a chance with those fourteen votes against him, as Winsor McCay points out above.

If there were any dirty work to be done, Sam, by a vote of fourteen "yeas" to one "nay," would be the boy selected to do it.

Sam should turn a deaf ear to the pleas of Sir Cecil Hurst, Elihu Root and the International Bankers and stay out of this World Court.

Sam should mind his own business and not mix up in European affairs.

only danger run in the World Court.

Q.—What do you mean?

A.—The Hague Arbitration Court can only give decisions on questions we submit to it. The World Court can pass on ANY question involving us submitted to it by the LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

Q.—Then the two-to-one Hague Arbitration Court can handle satisfactorily any dispute we care to submit to an international court?

A.—Yes.

Q.—And the only additional thing the FOURTEEN-TO-ONE World Court can do is to pass on cases we don't want passed on, but which the League of Nations does want passed on?

A.—Exactly.

Q.—Why, the Senate will not tie that millstone around our neck, will it?

A.—We shall see.

Q.—If we don't join the World Court, does it mean we can't have peaceful settlements of quarrels with other nations?

A.—No, we can go on settling disputes at the Hague Court of Arbitration, as we have for the last twenty years.

Q.—What disputes, for example?

A.—The Plus Fund case, a dispute between the United States and Mexico; the Northeastern Fisheries case, a dispute between the United States and England; the Shipping Claims case, a dispute between the United States and Norway.

Q.—Those cases were all settled peacefully and satisfactorily?

A.—Certainly.

Q.—Did the United States get a square deal?

A.—Generally. We were not very well satisfied with the last decision in the dispute between the United States and Norway.

Q.—Why?

A.—We were willing to pay Norway $2,679,200 damages for our interference with her neutral shipping during the war. She claimed $11,669,000. The Arbitration Board awarded her $11,995,800.

Q.—How was the Arbitration Board made up in this case?

A.—One American, one Norwegian, one arbitrator chosen jointly by the United States and Norway.

Q.—Then there were two foreign judges to one American?

A.—Certainly. That is bound to be the case in any international arbitration.

Q.—What will be the proportion of foreign to American judges on the World Court?

A.—FOURTEEN TO ONE.

Q.—Well, if a two-to-one foreign court gave Norway more than four times as much as we thought was fair, what would a FOURTEEN-TO-ONE foreign court do to the United States in any dispute?

A.—Figure it out for yourself. Moreover, that is not the

Protects the Innocents

Governor Allen should sign the bill, now before him, designed to eliminate to some extent the unfair losses which finance companies and automobile dealers have experienced when "installment" cars, on which they hold mortgages, are seized in liquor law violations.

The present law provides that the car be confiscated by the State; the note holder, not the bootlegger, suffers the loss. The bill, passed by the House and Senate, provides that the car shall be sold by the State, and any money remaining after court expenses are paid shall be used toward paying off any legitimate mortgage.

Get Under a Straw Hat!

Boston launched its official straw hat season with showers yesterday. But it has never yet failed to clear up.

Joyce Kilmer died without ever having seen a poem as lovely as a tree. Man is a homely being in comparison with a tree. But man, donning his first straw in the warm, new Spring, is something akin to a tree bursting with new foliage and reawakened life. Only man is self-conscious.

$20,000 to Probe Trust

The House Committee on Rules reports a resolution empowering a special commission to spend not more than $20,000 for an investigation of Power Trust activities within the State.

It would be interesting to learn what sum the Power Trust is willing to spend to combat the investigation and defeat the purpose of the proposed commission.

The Power Trust has to protect only its selfish interests, involving many millions of dollars.

The Legislature must safeguard public interest and money from vicious exploitation and guard zealously the freedom of the press.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

NATURE is grand! But she'd have to work overtime to best a good drugstore complexion, a permanent wave, and a corps of plastic surgeons.

It is as hard to persuade an intimated woman that she is making a fool of herself, as it is to convince an intimated man that he's making a spectacle of himself.

The fish that a man never forgets is the one that got away; and the woman that he remembers the longest is the one he didn't get.

When a man doesn't play fair in the love game, he is cheating two women and one man: the woman he is cheating, the woman he is kissing—and himself.

Figuring it out carefully, King Solomon must have decided that his wives "didn't understand him," about every six months.

Why is it, that when a man has tired of a flirtation, he feels that it is only chivalrous to pass the girl along to another man, like a box of chocolates?

No matter how many cars or how many loves a man has, somehow, he never seems to have more than one good razor blade.

Two things a man struggles to resist in the springtime: A bright red necktie, and that "Oh-you-won't-doubt-but!" look in a woman's eye. But, alas, he seldom wins!

If men go in for orange flannels and scarlet hats this summer, every good course will look like an atrocity.

The BAER Facts

By ARTHUR "BOGS" BAER

THE time has almost elapsed when we shall see motion pictures broadcast through the weather reports and plastered on the wallpaper of the most private homes and railroad stations.

The enormity of this anticipation is difficult to retain in the average space between normal ears.

Not only will we see radio announcers, but we will also have to look at them.

You can perch in your parlor chair, swirl on the knobs and see the world's finest dramas speaking and galloping over the damp spots on the dining room wall.

Oh, well, will remember Deadwood and the picture of Grandpa and the same pillow. Simon Legree will chase Uncle Tom around the kitchen through a decorative fringe of bloodhounds.

The weekly news reels will be enlivened by Banquet's ghost doing a cadenza on Macbeth's conscience while Rip Van Winkle illustrates a lecture in which he condemns alcohol in every form, but liquid.

When Richard pages his boss the sea parlor will be a literary stifle, but it will still be superlative of dignity when Gypsy de Bergeres shreds his elastic nose of King Lear and Hamlet reaches for the skull and comes up with a parlor lamp.

The Organs will thunder through the portieres as it chugs along to rescue Harry Kay Blaney in the last act of "Across the Pacific."

The murdered banker will do his setting-up exercises in the museum as he points the finger of accusation at the western half of the Siamese twins.

The rubber-legged beauties of Ziggy's follies may complicate the arguments of married life when your wife requests you to tune in on another radio program.

We do not know how the Moscow Players will look on a waist-coating of geraniums. But we know that they cannot look any worse than they sound.

The visible opera will soon be an established custom in the American home. And in order to complete the illusion every citizen in town will be asked to set aside two dozen of his library chairs for the use of Roxey's ushers.

Patrons are requested to enter into the spirit of the thing and not to rush into the parlor immediately. Stand out in the backyard, huddle in the kitchen for 15 minutes, spend an hour in the breakfast alcove and then ring your own front door and demand a seat or your money back.

Decorate your porch with big banners announcing to the neighbors the title and nature of the big feature pictures now playing in your home.

A couple of thousand mandarin will not add to your electric bill. The looking-talking pictures have a big future.

New York Day by Day O. O. MCINTYRE

By O. O. MCINTYRE
NEW YORK, May 16.—In a several blocks area on the upper West Side many rooco apartment houses and ornate family hotels are given over largely to housing these crops de chine and languid ladies known in their whispering world as "keptives."

In this nebular and negligible existence, there seems to be everything but happiness. The apartments are decorated in that indefinable splendor, somehow shouting of shame. There are luxurious iron, jewels and generous charge accounts. Yet the smiles leave the remnants of brightness of delusion.

Each apartment has a faithful colored maid who has learned the value of light-tipped silence and who acts as companion and buffer against a prying world. Aside from attending their mistresses, the maids spend much time siring the inevitable Chow dog.

Such lives are cast in the futile attempt to see the world through rose-colored glasses and to fight off physical evidences of years. Hours are spent daily in beauty parlor, hair dressing salons and with manicurists. They are not, however, indeed their beauty is often as fragile as a pearl's shadow.

The first touch of what to many is pleasant old age means the house of cards may crumble about them. The only visitors are those mysterious gentlemen known to servants as "Mr. Smith" or "Mr. Jones."

It is one of the unwritten laws of these ladies must live in isolation. Acquaintances result in talk and talk means all bills in isolation. A whispered implication there and there may be something in "Angry Wife Finds Love Nest" in her car.

Shop keepers welcome them. Especially the jewelry establishments. Fine jewels are their insurance. Accounts are entered in red ink, meaning all bills in isolation. Accounts are entered in red ink, meaning all bills in isolation. Accounts are entered in red ink, meaning all bills in isolation.
